MASTERS SERIES

Jeffrey Jacobs

Spanning more than 29 years, Jeffrey Jacobs' career has focused exclusively on high-end architecture, architectural product and hospitality/resort photography. From large-scale projects to small intimate spaces, Jacobs' artfully detailed and masterfully crafted three-dimensional lighting techniques are recognized nationally and internationally.

Jacobs' extensive experience includes all types of image production, from "bubble gum to Mack Trucks," including food, large studio and elaborate location productions in addition to numerous television, music video and documentary motion picture presentations. In the early to mid-1980s, his responsibilities included Lighting Director, Gaffer, Best Boy Electric and Key Grip on several regional and local television commercials.

This extensive production experience has given Jacobs a unique insight into every aspect of image production, both still and motion, and enables him to explore the full range of possibilities ultimately bringing his or his clients' vision to reality.

He consistently provides his clients with unique and often unprecedented results using lighting approaches rarely considered or attempted by other professionals. He also knows when natural light and simple are the best choice.

Learn from the best

In this three day in-depth workshop, internationally acclaimed architectural photographer Jeffrey Jacobs will share extensive details of how he lights and captures the architectural images that have garnered recognition worldwide. This workshop will be a mix of hands-on and classroom instruction. Learn the gear. Learn the software. Then join the Jacobs crew to participate in a full-on production shoot after the sun sets. After learning the advanced lighting and capture techniques on Friday night, the group will split into two teams for a lighting competition on Saturday - coached and judged by Jeffrey and the crew. This is one workshop that should not be missed!

Weather September in Glacier National Park

Average High: 52° F | Average Low: 32° F

Fall colors have settled into the park - yellows, oranges and reds brilliantly light the landscape. You get the best of the park without the tourists. Wildlife is still very active.

What the attendees are saying....

"Great people, photo geeking, and opportunities to try out gear I've always wanted to try; but haven't had the local opportunities."

- Martin Knowles | Vancouver, B.C.

"The very first image, the absolute first image we worked on after the workshop was greeted by my client with a single word (a huge client of mine, that I've worked with for years) - "Spectacular". We drew on Jeffrey's techniques a lot to create that image. I've never done a seminar before, I learned how to use a camera in library books and chatting with professionals. I will do at least one every year from now on, and at least at this caliber. There are half-a-dozen techniques from the workshop from Jeffrey AND other attendees we immediately implemented. And they work, really work."

- Alistair Tutton | Kansas City, KS

"Scratch whatever previous plans you might have and go to a workshop with Jeffrey Jacobs hosted by Capture Integration. The value received far outweighs the cost. Jeffrey is more than generous with his time and knowledge before, during, and after the workshop. He really wants to elevate the quality of photography out there and takes a personal interest in each person. The folks from CI are helpful and generous with their time and knowledge."
